2012 Book of the Year- Seed Soil Sun - by Cris Peterson. Boyd's Mills Press, 2010. Photographs by David R. Lundquist. Seed, soil and sun are three of the key ingredients for growing food. Peterson describes the process by which air and water combine with seed, soil and sun to cream nearly all the food we eat.

Popcorn! by Elaine Landau. Charlesbridge, 2003 Offers popcorn history, trivia, facts and figures and answers questions that children often wonder about. Useful for classroom projects and report writers as well as entertaining reading for popcorn.

Amazing Grazing by Cris Peterson. Boyd's Mills Press, 2002. Photographs by Alvis Uptis. Three Montana ranchers are featured as they carry out rotational grazing to create a healthy environment while raising beef cattle and managing the western range.

Farmer George Plants a Nation by Peggy Thomas. Calkins Creek, 2008. The new book reveals George Washington as he's rarely seen. Besides being a general and the first president of the United States, George Washington was also a farmer. His efforts to create a self-sufficient farm at Mount Vernon, Virginia, mirrored his struggle to form a new nation.

A Young Shepherd by Cat Urbigkit. Boyd's Mills Press, 2006. Learn about raising sheep from Cass, a young shepherd who works on his family's sheep farm in Wyoming. The book has simple, informative text and engaging photos and presents a fascinating glimpse of a hard but rewarding way of life.

Fantastic Farm Machines by Cris Peterson. Boyd's Mill Press, 2006. Wisconsin dairy farmer and acclaimed author Peterson introduces readers to twelve big pieces of farm machinery that help get the job done. Internationally renowned photographer David Lundquist shows each piece of machinery as well as fabulous aerial view and close-up details.

Clarabelle- by Cris Peterson. Boyd's Mills Press, 2007. Photographs by David R. Lundquist. Everyone knows that cows produce milk, which is great for drinking and also is made into cheese, butter, ice cream, and yogurt. But also electricity, fertilizer, and compost for animal stalls? Yes, cows produce these too! Vibrant, close-up photographs by David Lundquist capture Clarabelle with her herdmates and her newborn calf as well as the family members of Norswiss Farm who live and work together.
