Presentation Description

As graduation nears and high school comes to an end, it's time to look for ways to continue building the leadership skills that FFA has instilled within you. Including Farm Bureau in the next chapter of your life can help develop a path to career success, refine your personal growth, and create a network with agricultural peers. This session will provide an overview of opportunities the WFBF Young Farmer and Agriculturist program offers including conferences, competitions, awards, travel and more.
